S.A. Resolution #47 ILR SA x SGA Relations

ABSTRACT: This resolution aims to establish the formal and necessary connection between the ILR. Schools' Student Government Organization ('SGA') and the ILR. School's Student Assembly Representative. In summary, the ILR. School is the only college within the university that has procured an organization with the intellectual and legislative characteristics of the SGA. It should be noted, this organization is unique in the sense that it has developed into a focal point for student activity within the ILR. School: the entity formally in charge of facilitating ILR. student activity.

Sponsored by: Lucas Zumpano '22, Cat Huang '21, Daniel James II '22, Mohammed Islam '23, Alexa Cooper '24, Jude Martini '22, Salima Ali '23, Nicole Overton '23, Ariel Zbeda '23, Margaret Smith '21

Whereas, the SGA has undergone a restructuring process in light of effectively representing its constituents – ILR. undergraduate students.

Whereas, the ILR SGA serves as the chief mechanism in terms of administrating undergraduate student relations within the ILR School, and as such, it is the SGA's role to effectively communicate and coordinate shared activities between ILR students and faculty.

Whereas, SGA acts as a liaison and hub for ILR student clubs with delegates from each of the organizations that exist currently within the school including those that may form and develop hereafter: ILR Ambassadors, ILR Global Affairs Club, ILR Sports Business Society, ILR Women's Caucus, Minority ILR Student Organization, People's Organizing Collective, Scheinman Conflict Resolution Club, The Society for Human Resource Management, Undergraduate Labor Institute.

Whereas, the ILR SGA co-sponsors student events, discusses and implements policy in response to student feedback, achieved by the processes relevant to the ILR SGA's 'Idea Lab', unique to the ILR School, this serves as a think tank for generating proposals to improve: a student sense of community, academic resources, and student-faculty rapport.

Whereas, the ILR SGA acts as the student policy-making body for ILR undergraduates. In pursuit of promoting inclusion, student well-being, and general consensus, the aforementioned relationship is sought to be solidified.

Whereas, the ILR SGA and the SA have historically been considered separate entities; consequentially, this has lead to consistent miscommunication errors between ILR constituents and the ILR rep, inadvertently rendering misrepresentation for ILR students.

Whereas, resolution #11 revealed and exacerbated the lack of communication between the SGA and the ILR representative in terms of student voice; necessitating a legitimate connection going forward.

Appendix A

The Research and Accountability Committee has made the following recommendations regarding the medium, content, implementation of the proposed conflict resolution seminar for S.A. Members:

Medium: For practical and accessibility reasons, we recommend that course content be delivered using Canvas with asynchronous modules. Each module should include a video lecture for each content category, followed by a brief quiz. Quizzes should be multiple-choice questions and graded on completion. Following the five content modules, users should be required to electronically affirm their completion of the course and submit a screenshot with the affirmation to the Office of the Assemblies.

Content: The Committee has recommended an adaptation of the syllabus for ILR Dean Colvin's Introduction to Conflict Resolution and Negotiation (ILRLR 2040) course to focus on five content areas:

- Understanding Conflict (types of conflict)
- Theories of Conflict
- Conflict Resolution Processes (rights-based, power-based, interest-based, third-party methods)
- Power Dynamics (recognizing inequities between people and groups; understanding how inequities may lead to conflict situations)
- Appropriate Conduct and Responses to Conflict (strategies for respectful—yet effective—responses to conflict situations)

Means of Implementation: The Research and Accountability Committee shall be responsible for developing the course. Associated development costs shall not exceed $100.00 and will unlikely be accrued. A completed Canvas course shall be presented to the General Body no later than August 1, 2021, or four months following the adoption of this resolution.

4 5 6 7	ABSTRACT: This resolution supports implementing the Choice-Based Grading System for the remainder of the Spring 2021 semester in response to the unprecedented burdens associated with the COVID-19 pandemic and recent events that have left students mourning and grieving.
8 9	Sponsored by: Dillon Eisman '22, Morgan Baker '23
10 11 12 13	Whereas, the circumstances of the pandemic have made it increasingly challenging for students to both participate in and succeed in academic course work during the entire semester;
14 15 16	Whereas, increasing concerns related to mental health crises have not been adequately resolved and are difficult to recognize in a virtual learning environment;
17 18 19	Whereas , the Mental Health Review Final Report states that the percent of students who found themselves unable to function academically due to depression, stress, or anxiety increased from 33% in 2015 to 42% in 2019;
20 21 22 23 24	Whereas, it is believed that students are experiencing more depression, stress, and anxiety in the spring 2021 semester than they were reported to in 2019 as a result of the unprecedented burdens associated with the COVID-19 pandemic and recent events that have left students mourning and grieving;
25 26 27 28	Whereas , Cornell Administration has previously acknowledged concerns related to mental health and has made adjustments throughout the semester such as extending the course drop date to promote mental well-being;
29 30 31	Whereas, Cornell Administration announced on April 5, 2020 that it would maintain a choice-based grading system that offers maximum flexibility for struggling students;
32 33 34 35	Whereas, in the spring 2020 semester, the drop deadline was extended to the last day of instruction and students were able to petition to change the grading basis on any course until the end of the semester;
36 37 38 39	Whereas , Cornell Administration should commit to prioritizing student mental health and well-being by implementing a similar policy in the spring 2021 semester;
40 41 42	Be it therefore resolved , the Cornell Student Assembly supports the 'Choice-Based' system and strongly encourages the University to adopt the proposed grading model;
43	Be it further resolved, all courses (regardless of degree requirements) will offer a "S/U" grading

option and allow students to change their grading basis until the last day of the semester, May 25;

S.A. Resolution #52 Amending Leave of Absence Policies

ABSTRACT: The resolution aims to call Cornell to amend its leave of absence policies in order to better accommodate the mental health well being of the student body.

Sponsored by: Arsen Omurzakov '22, Katherine Gorton '24, Alexa Slyman '22, Samuel Zverev '21, Carlo Castillo '22, Jay Doshi '23

Whereas, the Sophie Fund, an Ithaca non-profit advocating for youth mental health, identified that leaves of absence are often when a student's mental health is most vulnerable and "entail an often unexpected, abrupt, and painful loss of a structured environment that includes a support network of friends, professors, university staff, roommates and other fellow students, campus organizations, cultural and athletic facilities, and school medical providers."

Whereas, the Ruderman Family Foundation, a Boston based philanthropy advocating for and advancing the inclusion of people with disabilities released a report in 2018 on Cornell University mental health policies, with Cornell receiving an overall grand of a D-.

Whereas, several policies specifically pertaining to leaves of absence contributed to the score receive by Cornell and were marked as problematic:

- Cornell policy states, "When there is an actual or the threat of a community disruption, Cornell University may place a student on an involuntary leave of absence."

Cornell students may not initiate a health leave of absence after the last day of classes.

Whereas, additional Cornell policy asserts, "If a student submits a health leave of absence request after the published deadline to drop classes, the student will receive the "course withdrawal" notation (W) for any courses that have not been completed."

Whereas, when there is not a threat to the safety of others, behaviors that are disruptive that result from a disability should not result in exclusion.

Whereas, courts have ruled that discrimination on the basis of disability-caused behavior is the same things a discrimination on the basis of disability, which is illegal.

Whereas, final exam week is one of the most academically strenuous times of the semester and students should be free to initiate a health leave of absence then.

40 41	Whereas, including course withdrawals (W's) on students' transcripts burdens them with additional stress, shame, and challenge when seeking career opportunities that those seeking a health leave
42 43	should not be penalized for.
44 45	Whereas, at our peer Ivy institutions, many of these problematic policies are not in place.
46 47	Be it therefore resolved, Cornell removes language about community disruption as to why it may place a student on a leave of absence.
48 49	Be it further resolved, Cornell allows students to initiate a leave of absence after the last day of
50 51	classes;
52 53 54 55	Be it finally resolved, Cornell refrains from notating W's on students' transcripts right away when seeking a leave of absence after the published drop deadline and instead notates an incomplete, with an option for the student to complete their work at a later time period if they are able.
