S.A. Resolution #19
Recommending Uniformity in Faculty Laptop Policies

ABSTRACT: This resolution recommends that faculty allow greater freedom of student laptop usage in classes that require significant note-taking or online reading access.

Sponsored by: Noah Chovanec, '18

Whereas, according to Article II of the Student Assembly Charter, the Student Assembly has the “authority and the responsibility to examine any matters which involve the interests or concern the welfare of the student community and to make proposals concerning those issues to the appropriate officers or decision-making bodies of the University;”

Whereas, the effective understanding of course material is essential to the academic welfare of students;

Whereas, the value of experiential learning and its relation to student autonomy is a fundamental aspect of collegiate development;

Whereas, some faculty do not make materials available to students following lectures, and handwritten notes may not allow students to record key course material;

Whereas, laptops are one of the most efficient note-taking devices;

Whereas, laptop usage is consistent with Cornell’s initiative to reduce its environmental footprint by allowing electronic access to textbooks and readings;

Whereas, in February 2016 the Daily Sun wrote: “there has been a growing trend toward a more stringent regulation of [laptop use in classrooms];”

Whereas, the Student Assembly acknowledges the distracting nature of extraneous laptop usage on surrounding students;

Whereas, professors and instructors can eliminate this distraction through a variety of means that do not hinder the learning of students, such as relying on an “honor system” of self-enforcement or peer-enforcement, enforcing an “airplane-mode” policy, or utilizing teaching assistants to monitor laptop usage;

Be it therefore resolved, that the Student Assembly recommends that professors and instructors, especially in the humanities and social sciences, allow students to use laptops in lectures and discussion sections where note-taking is necessary and/or the reading materials can be accessed online.

Be it further resolved, that while we recognize that faculty members retain authority over their classroom policies and have the greatest amount of knowledge of their own course material, we recommend that faculty members consider individual learning experiences and have a discussion about the possible benefits of laptop use;

Be it finally resolved, that this resolution be conveyed to the Dean of Faculty and the Faculty Senate.

S.A. Resolution #29

Promoting Fair and Humane Labor Practices in Qatar

1
2
3
4 ABSTRACT: The Student Assembly, Amnesty International at Cornell University, and Cornell
5 Organization for Labor Action recommend that Cornell University take renewed action to promote
6 fair and humane labor practices in Qatar.
7

8 9 Sponsored by: Matthew Indimine '18

10
11 Whereas, Qatar enacted its Law No. 21 of 2015 in December 2016, claiming the legislation would retire its 12 controversial kafala system of labor sponsorship that subjects mostly non-citizen migrant workers to 13 passport confiscation, false contracts, and squalid housing conditions, among other abuses;
14

15 Whereas, according to Amnesty International's December 2016 report on Qatar, the recently enacted Law
16 No. 21 of 2015 fails to "significantly change the exploitative relationship between employers and 17 workers" or abolish the kafala system;
18

19 Whereas, the International Trade Union Confederation March 2014 report "The Case Against Qatar" found
20 appalling conditions for workers in Qatar, including the eight universities in Education City, and 21 Sharan Burrow, ITUC General Secretary, said about the new law changes: "Qatar has re-named the 22 appalling kafala system, but the fact is that migrant workers will remain bonded to their employers.
23 Putting new labels on old laws does not remove the stain of modern slavery, and workers will
24 continue to be forced to work under a feudal employment system.
25

26 Whereas, these concerns were expressed by Amnesty International at Cornell University and the Cornell
27 Organization for Labor Action in a memo to President Rawlings on January 6, 2017;
28

29 Whereas, this memo outlined concrete recommendations from Amnesty International specialists on how 30 Qatar ought to tackle the fundamental drivers of migrant worker exploitation, including measures to 31 end the restrictive exit permit system;
32

33 Whereas, evidence-based assessments have shown labor conditions to be particularly exploitative at World
34 Cup 2022 construction sites, which sit only a few miles away from Cornell's Education City campus;
35

36 Whereas, the urgency of intervening to assist World Cup laborers and workers in Qatar at large was 37 underlined by coordinated actions by student groups at eight international universities with 38 Education City campuses (including Cornell University) in November 2016;
39

40 Whereas, the Director of UCL Qatar confirmed in a letter to the Campaigns and Fundraising Officer of the 41 UCLU Amnesty International Society that Education City institutions play active roles in shaping
42 Qatari labor policy;

44 Be it therefore resolved, that the Student Assembly, Amnesty International at Cornell University, and
45 Cornell Organization for Labor Action request that Cornell University publicly affirm that Qatar's
46 Law No. 21 of 2015 fails to abolish the kafala system or adequately address worker exploitation in 47 Qatar;

Cornell University Student Assembly

- 48
49 Be it further resolved, that the Student Assembly, Amnesty International at Cornell University, and Cornell
50 Organization for Labor Action recommend that the University should publicly and privately push for
51 the acceleration of the labor reform process in Qatar, and release a detailed plan of how it will go
52 about doing so;
53
- 54 Be it further resolved, that the Student Assembly, Amnesty International at Cornell University, and Cornell
55 Organization for Labor Action recommend that President Rawlings, in the interest of transparency,
56 provide the dates of the President's Council forums;
57
- 58 Be it further resolved, that the Student Assembly, Amnesty International at Cornell University, and Cornell
59 Organization for Labor Action requests that Cornell University reveal whether or not there has been
60 any further evidence against labor abuse occurring on Cornell's satellite campus in Education City;
61
- 62 Be it further resolved, that the Student Assembly, Amnesty International at Cornell University, and Cornell
63 Organization for Labor Action requests that Cornell University release a full, updated and
64 comprehensive list of actions that Cornell has taken to protect workers at the Qatar campus;
65
- 66 Be it finally resolved, that the Student Assembly, Amnesty International at Cornell University, and Cornell
67 Organization for Labor Action requests that the University acknowledge that the Qatari laws set only
68 a minimum level of treatment, and as such the University should heed the International Trade Union
69 Confederation's recommendation that it recognize legitimate worker representatives at its Education
70 city campus and negotiate terms and conditions with such representatives.
