

representation

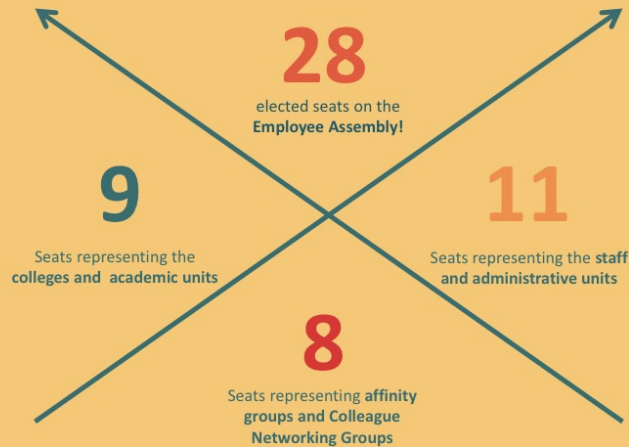

What does that even mean?

The Employee Assembly actively promotes an improved staff experience through regular engagement at every level of the university to ensure staff member's viewpoints are a shared priority in university decision making.

The EA is restructuring its voting membership, with the aim to better represent staff members across the university, by combining academic colleges, units, and affinity-based representative constituencies.

You should know you have representation on the Employee Assembly. You may choose to not participate, but just so you know...

YOU ARE REPRESENTED!

Now, what's on your mind?
