Whereas, the Student Assembly Standing Rules, Rule 12: Spending Guidelines, Part B: Special Projects Funding outlines the purpose of Special Projects Funding and the process of approving funding requests.

Whereas, Part B: Special Projects Funding, section a, of the Student Assembly Standing Rules explains the purpose of Special Projects Funding as follows:

section a: The Student Assembly may choose to fund any project, program or service through SA Special Projects that it deems to improve the quality of undergraduate student life or to further the goals of the SA. Special Projects funding is a type of category spending.

Whereas, Part B: Special Projects Funding, section d, of the Student Assembly Standing Rules describes the approval process of Special Projects Funding as follows:

section d: The Executive Committee shall decide upon special projects requests over $400 and under $1,500 by a majority vote. The Assembly, at large, may reverse an Executive Committee decision to fund amounts over $400 by a two-thirds vote. The request should be presented to the Student Assembly in the form of a resolution.

Whereas, The Spring Festival Gala is one of the largest annual events held by Cornell CSSA. The organization invites different guests and organizations such as Breakfree and Cornell ProYos to participate in this grand celebration. This year, they are excited to host the gala at the upgraded Bailey Hall, expecting 900-1000 attendees. In addition to a diverse range of 12 programs such as dance, songs, skits, and traditional musical instrument performances, the gala also includes various interactive activities for the audience, such as games and lottery events. The gala offers a unique platform for Asian Cornellians to showcase their cultural heritage while providing an educational experience about Asian traditions to students globally, thereby enriching our campus’s diversity and inclusivity.

Be it further resolved, that the Student Assembly approves the $1,500.00 Special Projects Funding disbursement to the Chinese Students and Scholars Association.

Be it finally resolved, that the Student Assembly necessitates that this funding be used to cover the cost of the CSSA Spring Festival Gala.

Whereas, the Charter of the Student Assembly grants the Assembly the “authority and the responsibility to examine any matters which involve the interests or concern the welfare of the student community”;

Whereas, colleges across the university vary widely in the quality resources that students are provided access to with respect to separate career fields and many specialize in directing their students to particular industries;

Whereas, students across the university may not have access to resources in a desired industry of choice given their current college of enrolment;

Whereas, there is little centralization of the many resources circulated amongst students and staff, such as lists of diversity programs;

Whereas, there is no formal, university-driven way for students to access information including member lists, website links, coffee chat form links, application form links, and deadlines for desired pre-professional and development organizations all through one readily available and digitally accessible avenue;

Whereas, there is no formal, university-driven way for student organizations and other non-employer parties to collaborate in the mutual development and dissemination of resources such as open-to-all resume review sessions;

Whereas, students from historically oppressed backgrounds may have fewer career development opportunities outside of what is provided to them by Cornell University;
Whereas, the mitigation and resolution of these shortcomings could allow students access to otherwise inaccessible opportunities for growth and significantly improve career outcomes;

Be it therefore resolved, that the Student Assembly shall create an ad-hoc committee, which shall be charged with enriching professional access and therefore enabling ‘any student’ to pursue ‘any path’, regardless of their background, declared major, or college of enrolment;

Be it further resolved, that this committee shall be referred to formally as the “Council for Professional Resources”, or the “CPR” for short;

Be it further resolved, that the Council for Professional Resources shall—at all times, including at the time of founding—be composed of various stakeholders in the Cornell University community, including, but not limited to, Assembly members, ex-officio members from no fewer than three distinct colleges, of which no fewer than two shall be first-year or transfer students, and Student Assembly Representatives of no fewer than three distinct colleges;

Be it further resolved, that the Council for Professional Resources shall actively work with the university’s career services office, colleges’ career services offices, student-led organizations, non-Committee students, and other stakeholders on an ad-hoc basis to carry out its purpose;

Be it further resolved, that an amount of $20,000 in the Student Assembly Reserve Account shall be ‘earmarked’ for use by the Council for Professional Resources, and that this amount shall be eligible to be utilized for and only for creating, streamlining, improving, or providing resources to the Cornell community;

Be it further resolved, that the Council for Professional Resources may, alongside its own initiatives, make recommendations to the Student Assembly and any other organizations or entities it may deem fit in line with its purpose and mandate;

Be it further resolved, that the Council for Professional Resources shall issue a memorandum summarizing its discussions to all members of the Student Assembly and to any other parties that request it within no more than forty-eight hours from the conclusion of a meeting or before the next Student Assembly meeting, whichever is earlier.
